

Date: 2003.03.23

Meeting Minutes

- Willard and Chuck met in Willard's office where Chuck professed his knowledge of JavaParty and explained why we don't want to proceed with JavaParty.
- Willard and Chuck continued the meeting by making journey into the bowels of the Love building and after much "mazing" around, found the Security Lab. Neither Willard nor Chuck is certain they can find the lab again. The group met up with Louis, the dungeon master, manning his post as Security Lab Overseer. A brief, like 10 sec, tour was given to the worthy adventurers. Louis then pitted some unwittingly and reluctant Solaris boxes to Willard and Chuck's disposal for certain torture. The boxes relinquished control completely as Louis granted us root access, which Willard and Chuck quickly changed root's password in attempt to slowly gain complete control over the dungeon. Although the dungeon master allowed us to do this, Willard and Chuck still thought it was rather thieving!

Action Items

- Meet at 10AM on Saturday, March 27, to work on the project. Agenda items for this session include, 1) Install JDSE 1.4.2 on the machines, 2) Setup user accounts for development use to prevent Willard and Chuck from blowing there own proverbial feet off as root. 3) Get the development ON!